Thanks Jim, sounds good. You might want to talk to the City about concerns regarding the ongoing SSO location on 82nd street, especially given the preliminary scheduling suggesting the overflow will continue for 5 more years. I would suggest building in the CCTV investigation work as we discussed, to ensure there isn't something else going on causing the 82nd street overflow. Also, you may want to consider relocation of the 82nd street overflow to another location with less of potential impact to residence. It would be good to build these into the plan, the earlier the better.

Dean,

Just wanted to touch base. After talking with Denny T at the city last week about additional documentation of the backups on the north end (from the City of ESL), Denny mentioned that Joe Stitely with IEPA has some records of the situation from his inspections and would be getting that info to us this week (or next, depending on holiday time off and such). Once we see what Joe has documentation of, we can plan any needed next steps to investigate surcharging and backups resulting in 82nd street SSOs, and include those in the schedule and scope of the wet weather plan.

Just didn't want a week to go by and not have any response for you. Thanks.

JWN
